SUCCESSFUL CONTINUATION OF THE NATIONAL

TARGETS-ONE MAN ACCIDENTALLY WOUNDED.

The crowd at the first National Schuetzenfest in Glendale Park, L. L. yesterday, numbered nearly 10,000. It was Volksfest Society Day, and the various visiting organizations which arrived did much toward making up the big crowd. The weather was more favorable than it had been on Sunday and Monday, and that fact contributed to the large attendance. Moreover, there was increased inter-est in the shooting, which resulted in some firstclass scores, several of Sunday's and Monday's

The marksmen in the issued to non-members. shooting pavilion presented an interesting sight. Nearly all of them had elaborate paraphernalia for loading and cleaning their rifles, and some of them prepared their own cartridges. The arms used were of many kinds, the commonest type being a heavy weapon, with a stock deeply curved for the shoulder and with a detachable handpiece. Medium calibres seem to be preferred. rattle such as might be produced by the desultory firing of a battalion of soldiers. Some of the marksdo not look on wine when it is red, or beer when it is foaming, but the majority believe that the best training is to "live naturally"; so they keep the waiter-girls in the beer hall running to the bar at a lively rate. Among those who believe in the "live naturally" theory are Gus Zimmerman. Michael Dorrier and George Helm, three "cracks, who will probably surpass their previous fine records before the tournament is ended. Adoinh Strecker, the man who has made some of the best scores so far, takes great care of himself, in the way of refraining from anything that might dim his sight or make his head unsteady.

Pape, the young California worlder, and a new arrival, made a sensation by equalling Strecker's score at the standard target. He made 4 straight bullseyes and a 7, making a run of 47. H. M. Pope cood work on the man target, making 95 to ker's previous 97. The first red flag of the day was won by William Baab. Dorrler also made some good scores, especially on the ring target, where he had a record of 73 out of a possible 75. Strecker's work was good, but he complains that the hot men considerably.

THE VISITING ORGANIZATIONS.

The visiting organizations yesterday were the Canstatter Volksfest Verein, twenty-five men, President John Bauer; the Hessen-Darmstatter Volks-fest Verein, seventy-five non, President Adam Epple; Plattdeutscher Volksfest Verein, with over thousand men, and music; Bayerischer Volks-Badisher Volksfest Verein, with forty men, under rived they were formally welcomed by President William V. Weber. The guests of the day were present at a dinner in the large restaurant, where there was speechmaking. Several valuable additions to the list of honor prizes were received during the day.

MISHAP AT A RIFLE RANGE. A man, whose name the police did not learn, acci-dentally wounded John Baumann, forty-five years old, sergeant-at-arms of the Badisher Volksfest Verein, who keeps a boarding-house at No. 113 Forth-st., this city. Baumann was standing near Bayer's rifle range yesterday afternoon, watching Bayer's rifle range yesterday afternoon, watching one of his boarders shoot. A 22-calibre air rifle, in the hands of the rifleman, was discharged, the builet entering the upper part of Baumann's right chest. Baumann was hurried to the ambulance tent, where the surgeons probed for the builet, but could not find it. The wounded man was carried to Brockiyn, being, the surgeons said, scrious; wounded. There were a number of other ambulance calls, all for unimportant cases. The police arrested several pick-pockets yesterday. They were carried before a Justice and remanded for the Grand Jury's action.

RESULTS OF THE SHOOTING. The shooting for the day resulted as follows:

E. Bloden, of San Francisco, made the last red dag.

A. M. Pape, Columbia R. C., San Francisco, made 33 out of a possible 190 at the man target, and, with F. C. Ross, is high on the standard with the fine score of 47 out of a secessary 50. A. Strecker made 107 straight bull's-eyes toward his Koenig prize. He missed his 193th, but went to his 148th without a break, but missed this, and followed on to 187, securing a gold medal, when his cartridges gave out, and he had to stop.

C. E. Gensch, New-York Independent S. C., made the best score to-day at the Columbia Honor Target, scoring 55, which is the highest so conducted of 73 at the ring target last Sunday. H. M. Pepe, Dowler and Pape, of California, made 86, 94 and 83 respectively at the man target. The officials were unable to give the full scores on the Columbia Honor Target. The oldest member of the Board said that for over thirty-one years he had not heard anything so outrageous. Algernon S. Inounced the committee for its "greengoods" and said a crime had been committed. Money, said, had been used to decide the selection of a candidate for the Boys' High School. He called upon the members of the Board to assert their independence and not be bound by the custom of unanimously adopting a local committee's report, saying he was tired of being jumped and danced whenever these committees pulled the string. He sheeringly referred to Professor Mickleborough's gift of a geological collection to the Boys' High School, and said that a first-rate school had been placed in charge of a second-rate man. He wondered that some indignant taxpayer did not bring an action against the city for misuse of public

The people's request for a competent head for the Boys' High School had been treated as if it had been an ash-barrel janitorship. The new administration under Professor Mickleborough would be nerveless and like milk and water. In closing his tirade, he spoke of Dr. Mickleborough as a Canadian of recent immigration and loubtful naturalization.

In reply to Mr. Higgins, Henry W. Maxwell paid Dr. Mickleborough a high compilment for his all-around fitness for the place, and declared that Mr. Higgins's action was prompted purely by spite.

Mr. Somers apologized to the new members of the Roard for Mr. Higgins's conduct, and told Mr. Higgins that he could not reply to him in the vernacular used by him, as he did not frequent the racetrack or the baseball ground. JUGGLING WITH TREASURY ACCOUNTS

HOW THAT SHOWING OF NEARLY $1,000,000 IN JUNE WAS OBTAINED

Washington, July 2 (Special).-If anybody required ocular proof of the assertion that the accounts of the Treasury were juggled to bring about the appearance of a surplus in June, it is furnished by a comparison of the statement of Saturday's business with that of to-day. There had been on the closing days of former months some pretty plain cases of holding back expenditures to make the deficit of the months apparently small, but none of them were so palpable and absolutely shameless as this last experiment. On Saturday, the last business day of the year, no payments were made on account of any of the usual objects except a trifle of $199.258 to pension fund. On Monday, although it was the first day of the fiscal year, all receipts were credited up to the fiscal year which had closed on the pre- her wealth and commerce to the States of the Union ceding day and no expenditures were made on any account. The result was that the statement of the June operations was made to show an apparent surplus of nearly $1,000,000, while the Saturday statement, which really closed the receipts of the month, showed only a little over $2,000,000. By this process, too, of stealing Monday's receipts from the new fiscal year, the deficit of the old year was brought down to an apparent figure of $12.850,049 29. That all of yesterday's receipts were held back and dumped into the June business is shown by the fact that the Saturday statement only showed the June receipts to be $24,901,584, while that issued yesterday after the Monday's receipts were added put the June recelpts at $25 615.474

But 'to-day's statement furnished the complete proof of the "funny business" which had been going on in the holding back of expenditures in the closing days of the month. Instead of showing expenditures as had the statements for the last week or more, I for one day, which was more than had been exfor one day, which was more than had been ex-pended in all the ten days previous. It is perfectly clear that obligations had been allowed to accumu-late day after day in the latter part of June in order to make a showing for the month and cut down as much as possible the deficit for the year. Here are the official statements of the expenditures of Sat-urday and Monday, both of which they put into last month, compared with that of to-day, with which they began the business of this month and this year:

DECREASE IN THE CIRCULATION. Washington, July 2-The Treasury circulation statement issued to-day shows a decrease in the circulation of all kinds of money in the United States in the last tweive months, or fiscal year, of $60,000,000. READY TO ORDER OUT TROOPS. THE SITUATION IN THE FLAT TOP REGION SAID

TO BE THREATENING. Richmond, Va., July 2 (Special).-The reports to night from Pocahontas, Va., the seat of the coal-miners' strike, which has been going on for six weeks, is that a great struggle will probably take place on July 4 or 5. The miners have stood out against all inducements, many of them almost in the face of starvation. The dispatches to-night say that they are desperate and have resolved, if necessary, to win by force. There are probably several thousand men out in the Flat Top coal region of this State and West Virginia.

The time seems to have arrived when Governor McCorkle, of West Virginia, will have to send troops to the scene. It is reported that he is pre-pared to do so at an hour's notice. On Thursday the men will meet at Elkorn, W. Va., and, it is be-believed, arrange for a demonstration of some kind.

THE MAYOR'S VACATION.

WHAT PRESIDENT JEROLOMAN MIGHT DO WHILE COLONEL STRONG IS AWAY.

Mayor Strong's vacation will begin on Friday evening and will cover a little more than three weeks. The Mayor made this announcement to the members of the Board of Estimate at the close of their meeting yesterday afternoon. He said that he expected to be back for duty July 29 or 30. He will enjoy his vacation season at Richfield Springs.

During the Mayor's absence, President man will be Acting Mayor. After the actual Mayor has been gone ten days, the Acting Mayor can fill vacancies in offices the same as if he were Mayor, and some lawyers hold that he would posterior the same as the world posterior was a some lawyers and the same as the world posterior was a some lawyers and the same as sess the same power to remove that is vested in the Mayor himself. At the end of ten days, Acting Mayor Jeroloman could appoint a new presi dent of the Board of Health to succeed Charles G. Wilson, whose term expired May I last, and who is holding over indefinitely. It is asserted that Mr. Jeroloman could also, after the legal period named, remove all the officers whose tenure is simply during the Mayor's pleasure, and fill the places with his own people. These offices include places with his own people. These offices include the Mayor's secretary and confidential clerk, and all the clerks and employes of the Mayor's office, the Commissioner of Street Cleaning, the Commissioner of Accounts, the Mayor's Marshals and clerks and some other minor places.

"Of course," said an old municipal official yesterday, "Mr. Jeroloman would not do anything of this sort, for the Mayor on his return could put all his sort, for the Mayor on his return could put all his sort appointers back again. The only man who could stick on Jeroloman's appointment would be resident Wilson's successor. But the Mayor knows what a temptation the chance to make appointments would be to a Grace Democrat, and I'll bet Mr. Strong will be back here from Richfield Springs every ten days to see how things are going."

TAKE OFF THE HORSECAR BELLS. To the Editor of The Tribune.

Sir: In your late issues you have some sensible and timely articles on the new asphalt pavements. wherein you comment on the saving to the nerves of the people by the quiet resulting from the change from cobblestones, etc. Then you humorously address W. C. Whitney on the conductors' whistles. Now we want one more article on the greatest nuisance in this or any other city—the jingling bells on the horsecars. If you wish to save the nerves of on the horsecars. If you wish to save the nerves of the people, I know not a better stroke that can be given in this direction than to abolish by one aweep of the official pen those obsolete encumbrances.

They may have served some purpose years ago when cars ran once every twenty minutes, but when one car swiftly follows another, the lingle is continuous, both night and day, and everybody knows a car is coming in two minutes. Contrast the streets where the cable or trolley cars gide noiselessly along to those cross streets—Fourteenth, Twenty-third, Thirty-fourth or Forty-second-st., or Fourth and Sixth awes, where the horse hoofs rattle and the bells make their unmelodious jingle. If the continuous bell is not needed on the cable-car, as experience abundantly shows, it is certainly not needed on the slower horsecar. The constant ringing of belis serves to confuse, rather than to warn, pedestrians, and thus to defeat one of the objects for which they were, perhaps, adopted.

Take them off for one month, and no one will ask for their restoration, but only wonder why they have been endured so long. It will be of infinitely greater service to the quiet of the city to strike off these belis than even to asphalt every extreet or abolish all of Mr. Whitney's whistes, much as the two latter objects are desirable.

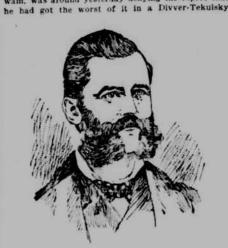

If any one desires belis or noises on the streets the ragman and the scissors grinder will furnish them; when they fail the organ grinder is ready to fill in. E. A. Poe did not half exhaust his subject when he wrote his poem. "The Belis."

FITZSIMMONS'S DEFENCE OPENED. AN ATTEMPT TO PROVE THAT RIORDAN'S DEATH

WAS DUE TO APOPLECTIC CAUSES. Byracuse, N. Y. July 2 The Pitzsimmons trial for manslaughter opened up its eighth day with the announcement that the prosecution rested its case. Then there was a long argument for a direction to the jury to acquit upon the evidence of the people. The motion was denied after a short conditation by the judges. to the lury upon certain questions. First, whether the defendant engaged in a fight within the meanan assault in the third degree, or assault and bat-tery, and, if the jury should find that there was a reasonable doubt of the defendant having been engaged in a misdemeanor, the element of manold be submitted as to whether death was caused by a careless all the grounds. simmons's case. He said it was at first intended to allow the care to go to the jury upon the evidence of the people, but it was thought better to clinch the matter by still further evidence, in order that an acquittal might be sure.

In outlining the defence he said that it would be proved that Biordan was subject to apoplexy and had fallen unconscious once before. He would also prove that the laceration of the crus cerebri found Riordan's brain was caused by bungling work of the physicians in performing the autopsy. There were several disputes between the lawyers and were several disputes between the lawyers and charges made that the opening was for effect. Police Captain Quigley was the first witness for Fitzsimmone. He saw the contest, and thought that Riordan made a pass at Fitzsimmons after the blow. He did not see the blow, hecause Fitz-simmons' back was toward him. During the entire set-to the captain did not see a single blow that landed.

Dr. U. H. Brown swore that he distinctly heard Riordan's head strike the floor when he went down. At the afternoon session Judge Ross decided that he would allow evidence as to the severity of the blow Fitzsimmons struck Riordan. Dr. Brown said he did not see any hard blows struck, and he was he did not see any hard how, where he could see them in a box.

Thomas Woods, who sat near the front of the stage, said that, in his opinion, it was a light blow. Police Commissioner De Gan also said that he did not see a hard blow struck. Frederick Block, of New-York, the propertyman employed by the Fitzsimmons Specialty Company, was then called to the stand. He said that the blow which Riordan received was what is known in the ring as a "monkey punch." It was an exhibition punch, he said, and he had seen it used from fifty o a hundred times. The same blow had been given Williams, Pitzsimmons's former sparring partner. On the cross-examination Block testified positively that Riordan was drunk when he came on the stage to spar. Dr. A. C. Benedict testified that death was caused by brain hemorrhage, and not by the blow.

"Did the blow have any effect in causing the

"Did the blow have any effect in causing the hemorrhage."
"Not by concussion. The kidney disease precedes the brain hemorrhage."
"Could the hemorrhage of the brain result from any cause other than by concussion."
"It could."

The witness, who had charge of a hospital in South Carolina, and who had had experience as a surgeon in the Army, gave it as his opinion that Riordan's death was caused by hemorrhage of the brain, resulting from a ruptured bloot vessel and degenerated arteries, superinduced by habit of life and the condition of heart and kidneys.

Cross-examined by District-Attorney Shove, the witness said a blow on the law or a fail on the rither blood clots, witness thought, could have been formed after death.

Dr. A. J. Laue, who was present at the autopsy, testified that in order to disclose whether the arteries were degenerated or not the brain should have been examined under a microscope. A casual examination, he said, would not show the true condition of the arteries.

Mr. Ide described Riordan's actions before the fatal bout, Its drinking, his walk with Block, etc., and also his condition from the time the blow was delivered until death occurred. He then asked witness what in his opinion caused Riordan's death, and the physician answered that in his opinion death was caused by brain hemorrhage, produced by a rustured blood vessel. The rupture of the blood vessel, he said, might have resulted from excitement or violence in case of arterial degeneration. In his ludgment the ruptured blood vessel was the result of excitement, due to degenerated arteries.

Dr. Parter R. McLaughton, after hearing the facts as presented by Mr. Ide and assuming them to be true, was of the opinion that the immediate cause of death was brain hemorrhage. The rupture of the blood vessel might have resulted from arterial degeneration and from the excitement which he had gone through during the day.

At 6 o'clock Attorney House announced that with the testimony of Dr. Lyons, the next witness to go on the stand, the defence woul ebriate; no syrup or sugar to derange discomposition.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, particularly to the womb and its appendages. For feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

A Book of 168 pages, on "Woman and Her Diseases," their Nature, and How to Cure them by home treatment, sent scaled in plain envelope, on receipt of ten cents in stamps for postage. This book is profusely illustrated with wood-cuts and colored plates, also with a vast number of reproduced photographs of those cured by the use of "Favorite Prescription" and without having to go through the ordeal of consulting a doctor. Full names and addresses are given so you can correspond and learn their experiences in curing themselves.

Mrs. Jos. G. Collins. (P. O. Box 187) of Alfred Centre, Allegary Co., N. V., writes: "I took Dr. Pierce's Pavorite Prescription for three months and it helped me more than all the other medicines that I had taken. Had been sick for four months with uterine troubles—can now be around on my feet without any trouble whatever; before taking: Favorite Prescription I could hardly get around at all. I hope this statement will benefit others."

NAVAL AND ARMY NOTES.

Washington, July 2.-The plans for the new battleships authorized by the last Congress, which have been opposed by members of the Navai Board of Bureau Chiefs, were submitted to the Secretary of the Navy to-day by Commodore Hichborn, chief of the Bureau of Construction, together with a voluminous letter showing his reasons for not agreeing with his colleagues. Commodore Hichorn's main objections are to the proposed doubledecked turrets, thirteen-inch guns and the position of the protective belt. Secretary Herbert does not intend to act with any haste in deciding the relative merits of the plans proposed, but will secure the opinions of prominent naval officers, including Admiral Ramsay and Commodores Sicard and Selfridge, before considering the subject.

Commander George E. Ide, who was recently re-lieved of the command of the Alert and ordered home, reached the Navy Department to-day, and registered as on waiting orders. Commander Ide's re-lief from command of the Alert is said to have been on complaint of Admiral Meade, who charged him with dis. espect while at Panama. What Secretary Herbert will do in the matter is not known, as he declines to discuss the case. The general opinion of officers on duty in the Navy Department that if Commander Ide was disrespectful to Admiral Meade, as alleged, his reprimand has been already given by the order relieving him of command of the Alert and placing him on waiting man of the Armander Ide had a long conference orders. Commander Ide had a long conference with Secretary Herbert this afternoon. After the interview the Secretary and Commander Ide were asked for some statement of the case, but they refused to discuss the matter. Some of the friends of Commander Ide on duty in the Navy Department of the charges made ment think that he will deny the charges made by Admiral Meade against him, and ask for a court of inquiry. In case this is done and Secretary Her-bert denies the request for the court, it will indicate that he considers the commander not to be in fault and that a court is unnecessary. The Secretary now has both sides of the case before him, and will probably pass on it in the near Dispatches were received at the Navy Department to-day announcing the sailing of the San Francisco from Kiel for Cronstadt and the departure of the Alliance from Gibraltar for Tangier. The arrival of the Montgomery a Petrel at Nagasaki was also reported. The following Army and Navy orders have been issued: Leave of absence for three months, to take effect on or about July 15, is granted to Major Thomas H. Hanbury, Corps of Engineers. Leave of absence for two months is granted to Captain Charles B. Ewing, assistant surgeon. Captain Daniel M. Tsylor, Ordnance Department, will make four visits each month during July and August, and three visits each month during September, October, November and December, from Springheld Armory, Springheld, Mass., to the works of the Colt's Patent Firearms Manufacturing Company, Hartford, Conn., on official business pertaining to the inspection of Gatling guns and Colt's revolvera under contract with that company, and upon the completion thereof will return to his proper station after each visit. Leave of absence for one month, to take effect upon his relief from duty in the Department of the Colorado, is granted to Lieutonant-Colonel David L. Huntington, Deputy Sergeon-general. First Lieutenant Edwins A. Root, 19th Infantry, will be relieved from further duty at the United States Infantry and Cavairy School, Fort Leavenworth, Kan., by the commandant of the school on the receipt by him of this order, and will proceed to Join his company.

Pay Inspector L. A. Trailey, of the Navy, has been detached from duty at the Navy Department and ordered to the Washington Navy Yard, and Paymaster S. Rand has been detached from the Washington Yard and placed on waiting orders.

The vote resulted in an overwhelming verdict for the borough, being 213 in favor and 57 against. As soon as it was announced, after the polls were closed, the boroughites engaged a band of music, held a celebration meeting at which enthusiastic speeches were made, and set off fireworks in the main street. The borough will take out of the township two-fitths of the property valuation, and it will comprise an area of one-third of a mile, the most thickly populated and best-improved section. The anti-boroughites will fight the borough in the courts.
